Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2008041988A1] A cover for a container in accordance with one embodiment that allows quick and easy access to products within the container. The cover (101) for a container includes a pivot score line 105 transversing the cover thereby forming a front cover portion (101A) and a back cover portion (101B). The cover also includes a fastening device. The fastening device includes a first fastening component (116) mounted on the front cover portion and the second fastening component (117) mounted on the back cover portion. The first fastening component engages the second fastening component upon pivoting the cover at the pivot score line.
