Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2075039A1] The board (1) has an upper protective layer (5) partially covering an internal beam (21), without significantly influencing the mechanical behavior defined by the internal beam (21), where the layer has a visible skin (7) pierced of a cutout. The layer (5) has a decorative element (6) that projects above the visible skin (7) while being fixed in the cutout perforated in the visible skin to close the cutout. The skin and the decorative element define together a visible top (4) of the gliding board.
