Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2080601A1] The bench (1) has a chassis (2) for receiving a continuous mold (3) comprising T-shaped parallel fingerprints (4) extending in a predetermined length arranged for fabricating a series of linear elements in parallel and in axial extension of each other. The continuous mold consists of molding modules (30) that are assembled end to end by interlocking units integrated and associated with a fixation unit in a manner to ensure alignment and straightness of the fingerprints along entire length of the bench.
