Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2083103A2] The present invention provides a slack eliminating device which improves a life of a yarn hooking member (52) with respect to wearing away caused by traveling of a yarn by changing a position at which a yarn unwound and traveling from a slack eliminating roller (39) makes contact with a yarn hooking member (52). In the present invention, the yarn hooking member (52) is arranged to be rotatable with respect to the slack eliminating roller (39), and which guides the traveling yarn to the downstream side while making contact with the yarn that is unwound from the slack eliminating roller (39), (Fig. 2).
