Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2008043535A1] A set of magnetically anchorable block members for the construction of games; the set comprises a plurality of main block members (10.1 to 10.12), each main block member (10) comprises a hollow body (11) having peripheral wall surfaces (12), and at least one elongated magnetic anchoring element (14) shaped and disposed in a housing chamber (13) of the hollow body (11) to freely move and/or rotate in one or more planes, and to orientate magnetic poles allowing the anchorage of one or more main block and/or supplementary block members (10; 26) separately or conjointly on one or more opposite wall surfaces (12), in correspondence with a plurality of anchoring positions, in the construction of a game assemblies.
