Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2093149A1] The method involves moving a label (4A) relative to a label (4B), such that an adhesive layer of the label (4A) is fixed on an upper side of the label (4B) in a displaceable manner, where the label (4A) is retained by a holding device (11). A combination of the labels, which are displaceably fixed on top of each other, is realized and retained by the holding device. The holding device with the combination of the labels is guided to a surface of an object i.e. medicament pack, such that the combination is applied on the surface of the object.
