Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2096228A2] The device (10) has a holding element (60) mounted at a supporting structure and bringing in contact with laminar elements (50) i.e. glass plate. The holding element has a receiving element (20) that is insertable into a base body (40). The base body is mounted at the supporting structure. A groove (24) is arranged in a longitudinal direction of the receiving element. The receiving element has a coupling clutch unit (32), which is brought in contact with the base body. Anti-twist plates (26, 36) are provided between the receiving element and a casing (30).
