Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2098148A2] The screen (1) i.e. shower screen (2), has a door element (4) rotatably supported at a wall element (3) by hinge bands (8, 9). A rotation movement of the door element overlies against the wall element by an axial movement of the door element in direction of a rotation axis (d). The axial movement is generated by blades (8a, 8b) of the bands. A recess (5) is dimensioned, such that blade is movable in the recess between a lower position (l) and a raised position in direction of the rotation axis, where the wall element and the door element are formed as plates made of security glass.
