Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2101015A2] The method involves concreting section at the height of a wall (2) and arranging array at the height of the wall at an upper surface of the wall for formwork of a section formed during concreting, in a parallel manner. The adjacent sheathings (6) are attached at the formwork scaffolding. An independent claim is included for a formwork for an upper surface of a wall of a building.
