Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2008080470A1] The invention relates to a shower partition with at least one movable door leaf with a fitting of identical construction for the suspension or the guiding and unlatching of the movable door leaf. Thus the upper and the lower fitting (A, B) of a movable door leaf (8) belonging to a shower partition are constructed identically, wherein the upper fitting (A) permits a guiding and suspension of the door leaf (8) in the upper guide profile (10a) of the shower partition, and the lower fitting (B) permits a guiding and unlatching of the leaf in or out of the lower guide profile (10b) of the shower partition. The fittings (A, B) have means which can be activated in the lower fitting position for unlatching the door leaf (8) from the lower guide profile (10b). An unlatching and latching of the door leaf (8) is thus achieved by horizontal pressure on the door leaf (8).
