Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2105716A1] The protective cover has a housing (1) for protecting a measuring instrument. A support element is extended in a receiving area (17) for engaging under a measuring instrument section towards an executing opening (12) in a partial manner. The housing is formed from two housing sections (1a,1b) and coupling elements (14,15). The measuring instrument section is inserted between the housing sections. An independent claim is included for a method for monitoring a protective cover.
