Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2108774A1] The fitting has a hinge part i.e. grommet (8), adjustable and fixable in two directions during mounting of the hinge part to a carrier section (2). The section is connected with a part e.g. window shutter, by a hinge. A fixation part receives a guide piece in one of the directions. The fixation part is fastened to the carrier section in the other direction. A fastening unit detachably fastens the hinge part with respect to the section. The fastening unit has adjusting screws (11.1, 11.2) and tension screws for independent adjustment and fastening of the hinge part in the directions.
