Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2108908A1] The refrigeration device, particularly a household refrigeration device (1) comprises a thermally insulated housing, an external housing (2), a thermal insulation layer and container walls (7) comprising an inner container (3) with an inner space (4) for receiving the cooling product (5). One of the container walls is fastened with an inner component (6) on a support. An independent claim is included for a method for producing a refrigeration device, particularly a household refrigeration device.
