Abstract (en)

[origin: FR2922735A1] The device has a cone divided into a lower part (3) and an upper part (4), where the lower and upper parts are overlapped with one another. The lower and upper parts present a sharp crown on which a removable attachment is piled, where the attachment is made of plastic material. A hair lock is introduced in a circular base (6) after the cone is divided into the lower and upper parts. A hook is assorted with a ring and inserted in the attachment that is fixed to a jewel or an ornament of hairs and bristles. An independent claim is also included for a method for placing a removable attachment fixing device.
