Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2008107001A1] A document comprises an encoded portion with symbols which are invisible or unreadable to human eyes but are machine readable. Each symbol comprises a small number of dots which can be placed in a small number of locations in a data region. The data region is adjacent to a synchronization region populated by one or a small number of synchronization dots. A method of producing such a document is also provided.
