Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1958765A1] The present invention is related to a floor suitable for sports halls, gymnasiums and the like. The floor complies with the technical requirements for use as a sports floor, is easy to install and comprises a metal arming giving it a high resistance. Particularly, the sports floor comprises an elastic layer (11), a first layer (12) of a pressure-spreading material (a wooden, wood-like or composite material) provided on the elastic layer, a second layer (14) of a pressure-spreading material, an arming (13) provided in between the first and the second layers and a floor covering (15). The first and second layers and the arming are preferably bonded with adhesive and may be provided in pressed panels for ease of installation. The arming is preferably a reinforcement mesh.
