Abstract (en)
[origin: FR2914435A1] The system has a radiofrequency identification tag (6) containing information concerning a hard goods, and transmitting the information to an external receiver. A marking plate (7) covers the tag and provides a visible indication of location of the tag. The plate is dimensioned and positioned such that the plate covers an undesirable visible element of the goods. The element is constituted by a junction of ends (4, 5) of a protection strip (3) that covers a peripheral edge (2) of the goods.
