A multi-compartment container cap (100) comprising a hollow tubular body (110) having a dividing wall (150) forming a proximal compartment (210) located at a proximal end (200) of the hollow tubular body (110) and a distal compartment (310) located at the distal end (300) of the hollow tubular body. The proximal end (200) of the hollow tubular body is adapted to be releasably attached to a container body (600) while the distal compartment comprises (310) a separate compartment for the storage and dispensing of a composition (500) which can be selected to be complementary to any composition store within the container cap (100).
