Abstract (en)
[origin: DE102007010970B3] The spray (1) has a spray head formed with a discharge nozzle for a water jet. A hand area supports the spray head and has a water path extending from a connection to the spray head. A junction is provided in the water path that is split into two partial water paths at the junction. The partial water paths completely or partially surround a utilization area and are merged in another junction. An accumulator is accommodated in the utilization area. The utilization area is surrounded by a side opened trough.
