Abstract (en)

[origin: DE102007009511A1] The domestic appliance (1) with a suspended section (4), e.g. a washing machine with a rotating drum, has a screw bolt (7) and spacer sleeve through openings (12,13) in the appliance wall (3) to hold the drum against the housing (2) during transport. The bolt has a cylindrical mating part around it, between the bolts head (8) and the thread (9), in a positive fit at the first wall opening (12). The two wall openings are formed by a slit to allow the bolt thread to be pushed through but not the mating part.
