Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2008130239A1] A pedal operating assembly, such as for operation of the cover of a pedal bin, comprises a base element (1), a forward pointing pedal (3) on the front side of the base element (1), which pedal (3) is provided with an engagement part (4) for the foot and also supporting means (19) for supporting the engagement part (4) so that it is movable relative to the base element (1) between an idle position and a working position. The supporting means (19) are designed in such a way that in the idle position the engagement part (4) lies further forward than it does in the working position.
