Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2008148997A2] The invention relates to a device for ridding premises of insects. The device comprises a receptacle (7) of insect-control liquid (8), a pump (13) for aspirating the insect-control liquid (8) contained in the receptacle (7) and for discharging the insect-control liquid (8) to a nozzle (14) for spraying the insect-control liquid (8). The device comprises a heater (16) of the insect-control liquid (8) mounted between the pump (13) and the nozzle (14) so that the latter sprays the insect-control liquid in the form of fumes into the premises and creates an excess pressure in the premises. The invention applies to the insect-control of premises that are mainly industrial or agricultural.
