Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2145993A1] The sleeve (10) has a flange, which is attached at housing, and another flange (16) with multiple recesses (32), where the recesses are formed at a distance in a circumferential direction. The recesses are attached at a bucking container. The sleeve is attached between the housing and a bucking container (36) of a laundry handling machine (12). An independent claim is included for a laundry handling machine with housing.
