Abstract (en)

[origin: FR2915352A1] The case has a hollow cylindrical body (1) comprising compartments dimensioned for receiving a cigarette. The body has a bottom (3) closing an end of each compartment with an exception of a special compartment having two opened ends. A rotary cover rotates around a longitudinal axis of the body, and has an opening for the passage of the cigarette. An ash tray (4) axially extends the body opposite to the cover, and has a cutting disc (8) and a stop (10) below the special compartment and at a distance (d) from the special compartment. A central lighter (6) is housed in the body.
