Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2153752A1] The chair has a resting support (3) provided with two armrest sections (3.1) and a center section (3.2), and a resting plate (4) fixed at the center section of the resting support. The center section is upwardly bent in relation to the armrest sections under an angle such that the resting plate is fastened at the center section of the resting support. The resting plate moves an upper section (4.1) with the center section of the resting support, when a lower section (4.2) of the resting plate rests against the pelvic of a person sitting on the chair.
