Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2159334A1] The coupling device (10) has a coupling portion (20), which is connected with a support frame (5), where another coupling portion (40) is connected with a tool. The coupling portions are locked in a coupling position with a locking mechanism (80). A gripping unit (60) is provided, with which latter coupling portion is locked in the coupling position with the tool during unintended release from the coupling position.
