Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2163490A1] The cartridge (21) has a hollow-cylindrical receiving member (22) comprising a receiving space for a component of a multi-component mass, and other hollow-cylindrical receiving member (27) arranged in parallel to the former receiving member and having a receiving space for another component of the multi-component mass. The former receiving space is larger than the latter receiving space. The former receiving member has low elasticity in a direction transverse to a longitudinal extent (L1) than the latter receiving member.
