Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2008039407A2] A method for providing a portal for an individual to access a web site for establishing personal relationships. The method includes the step of providing a portal booth to photograph the individual while the individual is in said booth to produce a photographic record of the individual, correlate selected demographic data about the individual with said photographic record, and transmit the photographic record and demographic data to the web site. The method also includes the step of correlating the photographic record and~demographic data with an account for the individual at the web site such that other individuals can access the web site and the account to view at least said photographic record of said individual.
