Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2008155388A1] The invention relates to a device generating a number for one-time use "OTP", comprising a display exhibiting two lines of characters, each line dedicated respectively to an instruction line and OTP number line. The device is distinguished in that it furthermore comprises magnifying means (110, 120, 130) able to carry out a function of magnification of the display of the "OTP" number at least, by distributing its display partly over the line of characters dedicated to the OTP and partly over that dedicated to the instruction.
