Abstract (en)
A cosmetic applicator having bristles which are prevented from becoming rough and spreading. The cosmetic applicator has a shaft section (2) and bristles (3a). The shaft section (2) has at least one recess (2d) formed in the outer circumferential surface of a head of a cylindrical shaft body (2a) along the longitudinal direction of the shaft section. The bristles (3a) are arranged in at least one row along the longitudinal direction and project from interior of the recess (2d) beyond the outer circumferential surface of the head of the shaft body (2a).
