Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2172958A2] The fixture has a control unit (10) provided with a fluorescent subrange (12). The control unit has a rotatably supported control unit (14), which is provided with an illuminant. The illuminant exhibits an average beam direction, which runs diagonal to a nearest radial direction of the rotatably supported control unit. The rotatably supported control unit exhibits an insert (24), which is arranged in a path of rays (46) of the illuminant during an operation process. An independent claim is also included for a method for operating a household appliance.
