Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2009024674A1] The invention relates to data conformity check by means of an interactive display which allows operators to select data being processed in order to compare the same with reference data following the indications given with correspondence information and using processing means which carry out the comparison according to the rules provided in the information in order to give the operator a score representing the calculated degree of conformity and, in the case of non-conformity, elements indicate where they are as well as appropriate steps to follow to resolve or reduce the non-conformity in order to improve the score. The invention further relates the corresponding methods, the computer programme for application of said method and a data medium carrying the programme codes and use thereof.
