Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2009021268A1] The present invention provides a disposable waste container (1) for use in ambulances, planes, sick bays, hospitals, or in other environments where contamination is a risk. The container comprises a bag (30) of appropriate material and a collar (5) extending around the opening of the bag which may serve itself as part of the sealing mechanism (35). Also the sidewalls (4) of the bag may extend over and under the collar. This invention was designed to contain bodily fluids or human waste in a more hygienic manner over the prior art.
