Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2184415A1] The unit (30) has two adjustable fastening brackets, where each bracket has a bracket element, which intervenes from the top in a drain channel (17) and is fastened with a fastening unit (33). The channel exhibits an oblong slot in an upper area to supply liquid from the top to the channel and to drain the liquid. Each of the brackets has another bracket element fastened to a vertical wall (20). The elements are adjustably fastened to each other by a fastening unit (35) so as to temporarily fasten a draw-off tap to the wall and to align the draw-off tap.
