Abstract (en)
Multilayered patch contains an adhesive layer (1), a printed supporting layer (2), a lacquer layer (3) containing perfume, and a removable protective layer (4). The perfume is contained in microcapsules. The printed supporting layer has an inner surface and an outer surface, where the inner surface is aligned to the adhesive layer, while the outer surface is aligned to the lacquer layer. An independent claim is also included for a method for producing a product, preferably tattoo plaster, which involves applying fragrance containing coating layer on printed supporting layer using printing process.
