The buckle (10) has a pair of superposed rings (11, 12) i.e. rectangular frames of different dimensions, where one of the rings includes a rectangular opening (13) arranged under another rectangular opening (14). The buckle is in position to block a strap in a slot (16) to follow application of clamping force or in releasing position after swiveling movement of the other ring. The latter ring is articulated on the former ring by utilizing a connecting spring (19) to press the latter ring against the former ring and to urge the latter ring slidingly to blocking position. The ring is totally molded from casting in coating made of plastic material.
