Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2208683A1] The packaging (100) has a supporting body (134) which consists of a receiving channel for an edge area of a sink (102). The supporting body also has a narrow-sided receiving channel section for a narrow-sided edge section of the sink and narrow-sided damping projections (174,180), in which the packaging and the sink packed in it rest on a horizontal subsurface in a standard position. The damping projection is arranged vertically above or under the edge section of the sink.
