Abstract (en)

[origin: FR2923895A1] The radiator (1) has horizontal heating bars (4) interposed between two vertical posts (2, 3), and an additional heating device (7) for heating an air flow. The device has a telescopic rail for carrying an air flow heating apparatus housed inside a space between the posts. The rail is provided with fixation units for fixing the rail to the posts. The fixation units have closing units for closing orifices provided on respective walls of the posts.
