Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2211314A1] The machine has a head module for inputting and/or withdrawing banknotes by a user, and a safe module for storing the banknotes. A locking/unlocking device enables access to the head module and the safe module and is secured by a lock. An evaluating and control unit locks the actuation of a head module lock when the banknotes are present in the head module and releases the actuation of the head module lock when the banknotes are not present in the head module. A control panel is arranged at the head module adjacent to an input/withdrawing compartment.
