Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2009056764A1] The invention relates to equipment for locating essential objects in premises in the dark. According to the invention, the premises include at least one light source (21, 22) having a wavelength that is not within the visible spectrum, and marks (25a, 25j) that are photo-luminescent at the wavelength in question and arranged at selected locations in the premises for highlighting the preferred outlines and/or paths.
