Abstract (en)
[origin: US2009155448A1] The present disclosure relates to organic protein extrudates using organic soy proteins as starting materials and food products containing these organic protein extrudates. As a result of using organic starting materials, the organic protein extrudates have a higher concentration of fat and dietary fiber. Moreover, the present disclosure relates to extrusion processes for producing the organic protein extrudates using organic soy proteins as starting materials.
