Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2226421A1] The appliance has a filter device (3) for separating particles from airflow, where the filter device includes a circular filter element (31) i.e. lint filter, and a cleaning device for cleaning the filter element. The filter element and the cleaning device are arranged so as to be rotatable opposite to each other, where the cleaning device is formed as a wiper (32). The wiper has a wiping strip whose length extends upto half of the diameter of the filter element, where the wiper is arranged radially over the filter element. The filter device is arranged on a door of the appliance.
