Abstract (en)
The seal has strips (4) arranged at a distance from each other transverse to a longitudinal direction (X) of a supporting material (2) and attached to the supporting material in such a manner that the seal is attached to a wall and/or building section. The strips are made from deformable sealing material e.g. natural rubber or butyl, and lie directly on the wall and/or building section, while the supporting material is attached to a side of the strips. The side is turned away from the wall and/or building section, and the supporting material is designed as a wind barrier and made from plastic.

Abstract (de)
Die Erfindung betrifft eine Bauabdichtung für die Abdichtung zwischen Sockel (12) und Holzständerwerk (16) bei Gebäuden mit einem flächigen Trägermaterial (2), auf welches zumindest drei, sich in Längsrichtung des Trägermaterials erstreckende und quer zur Längsrichtung voneinander beabstandete Streifen (4) aus einem deformierbaren Dichtungsmaterial aufgebracht sind.
