Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2236655A2] The device (1) has two lifting healds (2) and a half heald (20), where the half heald is lifted from one lifting heald during lifting of the lifting healds. Each lifting heald is directed to the other adjacent lifting heald, and has a projection (5) projecting through upper and lower legs of the lifting heald, and a saddle provided as hangers for the lifting heald. The projection has an opening, the half heald is operated under the influence of restoring force, and the legs have a stopper at each end. An independent claim is also included for a jacquard machine comprising a harness board.
