Abstract (en)
The segment (10) has a pair of layers stuck with one another, where the layers are a flexible layer (2) and a layer formed from stepped load distribution elements (3, 4). The elements are formed from two building veneer plywood boards that are arranged to obtain a set of bilateral stage seams (7, 8) of the elements for connecting individual sport floor segments. The flexible layer is made of recycling plastics foam i.e. reticuled polyurethane-plastics foam, where the segment is coated with an upper covering made of plastic or linoleum as utilizable covering of sport hall floor.
