Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2243454A1] The frame has a head support joined to a frame bar (1) of a backrest to bend back and overstretch a head in a cervical vertebra region. The support has a support frame forming a kinematically closed chain. Pivoted levers (4, 4') are supported at the bar. A bracket (5) is guided by the levers for fastening and guiding a stretch cover (3). A guide lever (7) is pivotable at the bracket and joined to a thrust bearing (17) arranged at a push bar (2). The pivoted levers are firmly connected by a cross beam (6). A clamping element (12) is arranged between the beam and the push bar or the bearing.
