Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2245953A1] The device (1) has two pliers-like arms (2, 3) movable against each other and comprising two hair styling surfaces (H), respectively. One of the hair styling surfaces partly cooperates with the other hair styling surface. A hair clamping element is adjustable in an operational position and a non-operational position. The hair clamping element is held in the operational position by force of a spring element from the latter hair styling surface toward one of the arms. The clamping element is movably supported and placed right-angle to the latter hair styling surface.
