Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2246502A2] The platform has a receiving surface for receiving an object, and a lifting element for lifting the receiving surface. A drive unit moves the lifting element from a position to another position. A casing (1) receives the lifting element in sections, and the lifting element comprises a casing body (2), where mechanical characteristics of the casing body are changeable. The casing body comprises an adjusting device (12) that is connected with the casing body by a coupling device. A wall element surrounds a chamber.
