Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2253250A2] The display has a stand structure (1) extending along a vertical axis, and compartments (5) accommodated in the stand structure. The compartments are arranged on one another, where bases (7) of the compartments form a storage area for objects. The stand structure has a linear guide device to which the compartments are coupled in selectable positions. The positions correspond to vertical axis based-height adjustment of the bases. The linear guide device enables continuous height adjustment of the bases.
