Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2255852A1] Fixing device (10) comprises a base body (12) with a fixing section (20) to fix to a longitudinal section of a crampon (14) and a coupling body (16) with a coupling section (28) for detachably coupling to the tip of a ski. The base body and the coupling body have complementary locking units for joining the base body and the coupling body. An independent claim is also included for a ski kit with the above fixing device. Preferred Features: The coupling section of the coupling body is made from a rubber-elastic material. The base body is an injection molded part made from a two-component plastic material of different hardness.
